WASHINGTON CITY

Cabinet Session

WASHINGTON, May 23.—At a Cabinet session to-day, the duration of which lasted nearly three hours, the reply of Fish to the Derby note was read. It is a document of great length, and thoroughly recites the position already taken by this government upon the subject of the Winslow extradition. There was also discussion on the general principle involved. The Cabinet consider it to some extent the situation of affairs in the Black Hills country and it is understood that the future boundaries of Sioux will remain much the same as at present; the reservation in the Indian Territory. All correspondence in this particular was referred to the Secretary of the Interior, who will give instructions to agents of the Interior Department regarding the proper negotiations in that direction. Should this portion of the Sioux nation positively signify their willingness to settle in the Indian Territory a hope is expressed that the entire formidable part of the hostile Indians may soon be found in that Territory.

Committee Report on District of Columbia

The report of the Committee on the District of Columbia charges the Commissioners with the violation of law in the expenditure of money; that the Board of Audit and its [illegible] [illegible] portions the names of twenty three persons who had improper or erroneous claims [illegible] to them ranging from $8,000 to $61,000, aggregating $88 [illegible]. The committee says the commissioners have added $3,091,000 to the debt of the District, not only without a warrant of law but against their construction of their powers as shown by their reports in 1871. The committee also declare that the contract with the Odorless Excavating Company was had improperly. The contract should be set aside and Cox and Bliss indicted by the grand jury. The committee also recommends that the bonds of the commissioners be proceeded against on account of malfeasance in office.

C. P. R. R. Co. offers to Compromise with the Government.

C. P. Huntington, Vice President of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, has written a letter to the chairman of the House committee on judiciary in which he says the company recognizes as fully as the committee the desirability both to the government and company, of an equitable and final settlement of all matters and questions of whatever kind between them and he thinks it can be effected by amicable arbitration with good results to both parties. If it should be determined by the committee to insist upon cash payments, the company would prefer contracts as it is leaving the question at issue to be settled in the future on equitable terms. The contraction in values, he says, has largely exceeded the calculations of the company, and that the amount received from the sales of lands has not been so large as was expected. The road was built in the time of high prices and although economically constructed cost a very large sum of money and he raises the question whether the nation, it being the principal beneficiary, should not share in the shrinkage, the saving to the government every year being more than the annual interest it pays on the bonds of the company. He compares the cost of transportation to the government before and after opening the road and shows that the government is now sending a large part of its freight to the Pacific [coast by] [illegible] ter and not by rail as was contemplated. He offers to give any information the committee may desire in regard to the suggestions of his letter, as the company is anxious to settle this matter so as to avoid a continual misunderstanding with regard to the interpretation of the contract.

Judiciary Committee Investigation

NEW YORK, May 24.—The sub committee of the Congressional committee on judiciary expenditures met to-day and examined U. S. Attorney Bliss, but not in reference to affairs of his office. He submitted a list of charges and fees exacted in the circuit and district courts and thought they ought to be either reduced or abolished altogether. The state of affairs in the marshal's office was not satisfactory, but he could not furnish any remedy. The number of judges ought to be increased in his opinion and much money would be saved thereby.

Nomination by the President.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The President sent to the Senate to-day the nomination of Edward F. Beale to be minister to Austria.

Blaine Bond Matter.

The sub judiciary committee continued their examination of the Blaine bond matter to-day, Blaine being present. Hunton laid before the committee a letter from Wilson correcting his testimony as to the residence of Caldwell as A. P. Robinson of Arkansas, testified that he was chief engineer of the Fort Smith & Little Rock railroad from 1869 to 1871. Witness gave a statement of the contract between the directors of the road and a Mr Fisher, which was afterwards transferred to Caldwell. All the assets or bonds of the company were under the control of Fisher and afterwards Caldwell. In 1871 witness brought a package from Caldwell in Boston to Blaine in Washington. He called Blaine out in to the lobby and delivered the package to Blaine. Witness knew nothing about the contents of the package and had no conversation with either Caldwell or Blaine that would indicate what was in the package. He held a few minutes conversation with Blaine at time of delivering the package in which Mr Blaine made some casual inquiry about the Fort Smith railroad and spoke of a cool interest out there which some one asked him to take an interest in. Witness knew nothing at all about Blaine's having connection with the Fort Smith road, never to any person in the world that the package contained bonds and knew absolutely nothing about Blaine's ownership of any bonds or interest in the Fort Smith and Little Rock railroad. In answer to questions by Lawrence witness said he brought the package to Blaine in his hands as it was too large to carry in his pocket. It was a roll of paper unsealed and was directed to Blaine. Witness came here at the time to attend to some matters about building a bridge for the company. There was nothing about the package to indicate that it might not be some papers relating to building the bridge. Witness being next interrogated by Blaine said further he has known Blaine about eight years having become acquainted with him when Blaine was editor in Portland, had an office in the same building with him and considers him an old and intimate acquaintance. Delivered the package to Blaine in the speaker's public parlor without any concealment. There was quite a crowd of people there. It was thrown down on the sofa by Blaine and was not treated like a valuable package. If it had contained bonds it was large enough to contain a large number. It might have contained a plat of the coal lands referred to by Blaine. It was a roll open at both ends.

Amber P. Curry of Little Rock testified that five weeks ago Robinson told him he had carried a package of bonds ($20,000) from Josiah Caldwell and delivered it to Blaine. Previous to this Robinson said he believed $20,000 worth of bonds was in the package, and that his understanding was these bonds were only an installment to Blaine. He did not say that Caldwell told him the object of delivering these bonds. Witness, on cross-examination by Lawrence said he did not know how the committee heard of the fact that he had this conversation with Robinson.

Blaine—How have the Republicans of Arkansas for the last year been affected towards me especially? Answer—I think a majority feel anything but friendly owing to your course on the Poland report concerning the affairs of Arkansas.

B.—Have you ever heard it declared that they were going to get even with me? A.—I have not.

B.—Have you ever said since you were in Washington speaking for yourself and associates that it was your duty to strike me whenever you can? A.—I never said so nor had I any feeling of the kind.

B.—Have you ever heard in connection with Poland's report that Poland was paid money for making it? A.—Yes.

B.—That is a part of the Arkansas gossip. A vast mass of falsehood and slander dug up from the dregs of corruption in Arkansas. I want to show by my questions that witness is acting with a disreputable gang.

Hunton, chairman, thought that it was not pertinent to this investigation that [illegible] Blaine should be introduced in connection with all [illegible] tion that he received pay, and especially in the absence of Poland.

B.—I want to show that the object of this witness is to smirch and smut me.

Witness—That is false in every particular.

B.—I can prove it.

Hunton did not think such a course of examination was according to rules, but Blaine had the right of proving it.

B.—I leave the matter as it is a question of veracity between Curry and Robinson.

Hunton then asked the question—Have you such a feeling against Mr Blaine that you would injure him? A.—No. I disliked very much to come, but I complied with the summons.

David B. Zakles testified that he was a former member of the banking house of [illegible], New York, at present negotiating [illegible] of loans on railroad bonds and other securities and miscellaneous bonds. He was at [illegible] for the State of Arkansas. He was formerly director of the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad. [illegible] bonds he only know what Josiah Caldwell [told] him.

Lawrence said hearsay testimony was not competent and that the question which [illegible] [illegible].

Fry spoke earnestly against asking [illegible] about what [illegible] the injury to individuals from mere hearsay testimony.

Hunton remarked that in [illegible] [illegible] could and would [illegible] proper.

Blaine in a few remarks said he was entitled to have the [illegible] [illegible] which he was charged, namely that he had an interest in the Arkansas bonds, that was the [illegible] P. R. R. Co.

Hunton said he was not willing to make a [illegible] until he became fully satisfied [illegible] the case.

Tarbox, who offered the resolution in the House directing this inquiry, said that his aim was to strike somebody in New Hampshire.

Blaine—Yes, but it was aimed at me in a coward[ly] manner.

Hunton said he thought the question he asked the witness was legitimate, viz: Have you any intima[te] [illegible] from [illegible] the [illegible] bonds [illegible] [illegible] legislation.

[illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] Blaine [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] committee that he was [illegible] what [illegible].

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Judge McClure of Arkansas.

[illegible] remark that McClure had already been [illegible]. It was shown [illegible] [illegible] anywhere.

[illegible] witness. What [illegible] [illegible].

The Press on the Cameron Intrigue

NEW YORK, May 24.—The Tribune's special says the appointment of Spencer, Smith, Mayer in Alabama and Don Cameron's son Don in Washington are the answers of the administration to the [illegible] of the Republican party. [illegible] If the Republican party [illegible] the clique which are trying to [illegible] [illegible] corrupt bargains and disgraceful intrigues to drive it into a heartless acceptance of candidates in whom it don't believe [illegible] if the reforms it has declared to be for the welfare of the country constituents sensible voters will be forced to the conclusion that there is no cure for the demoralization and corruption of American politics until the Republican party has been disciplined. If not destroyed by the bitterness of defeat and humiliation.

Even the Commercial Advertiser has grave doubts whether this combination will be any advantage to Conkling. Prudent friends would advise against the appearance of anything like huckstering combinations and bargains. The temper of the country is not favorable to dickering. It is walking on very thin ice and quite as dangerous as passing counterfeit money.

The Tribune asks if Don Cameron is a sample of what President Conkling's cabinet would be.

The Times says the impression that the recent cabinet changes were simply devised to enable Conkling to purchase the Cameron influence at Cincinnati will hurt the Senator more than it will help him. The fact that it commits the administration to his interest in the public estimation might have won him some votes six months ago. It will cost him quite as many now.

Nominations Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Senate to-day confirmed the following nominations: J. F. Sherman, Jr., U. S. Marshal for New Mexico; John J. Hoyt to be secretary of the Territory of Arizona.

Reduction in the Appropriation for the Navy.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The navy appropriation bill which passed the House yesterday appropriates $[illegible] less than last year the sum then being $[illegible]. This saving has been effected by the reduction of the personnel of the navy from 8,500 to 7,500 men and also by reductions in the construction, engineering and ordnance bureaus, and a reform in the pay of officers, some of them here[to]fore having been paid awaiting orders and others [illegible] [illegible] they should have received furlough pay.

Impeachment Trial.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—In the impeachment trial to-day Morrill of Vt. spoke in favor of and Allison and Eaton in opposition to jurisdiction.

Report on Schenck.

The committee on foreign affairs finally agreed to report on Schenck this afternoon; several modifications having been made it will be unanimous. Hewitt will present it to the House to-morrow. Schenck had not up to adjournment to-day replied to Chesebrough's letter.

Patent Issued for the Ortiz Land Claim.

A patent issued from the General Land Office to-day for private land claim in New Mexico known as Ortiz Mine Grant of New Mexico to the New Mexico Mining Co. The land involved in the grant included 69,458 acres.

Beale, the Nominee for the Austrian Mission.

Beale, nominee for the Austrian mission, resigned his lieutenancy and settled in California soon after the American occupation. He was superintendent of Indian affairs and subsequently for several years U. S. surveyor general for that State, and while there a personal friendship was established between him and Gen Grant which has continued ever since. After acquiring a large amount of property in California, he returned six years ago to his old home in Chester, Pa., from which place he removed with his family to this city in 1874. He was talked of for appointment as one of the commissioners of the district at the time the provisional government was established and during his residence in Washington his name has been mentioned by rumor in connection with several other federal appointments.

Wages Raised.

The workmen on the new Appraisers building in San Francisco having complained that their wages were reduced below the ordinary rates paid by private employers in that city, Sargent has had the matter investigated and an order issued fixing their wages as follows: Laborers $1 75 and masons $3.50 per day in greenbacks.

Southern Pacific Railroad.

Wigginton made an argument before the House committee on Pacific Railroad to-day in advocacy of his bill compelling the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to close the gap between Goshen and Hillister before receiving any lands. He is sanguine of passing this bill or securing a compromise from the railroad company to build the road through Santa Clara Valley and allow the Tulare Valley settlers to purchase their lands at government prices.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Insurgents want an Independent Government.

LONDON, May 24.—The latest intelligence from the Insurgent camp indicates that in consequence of the improved position which has resulted from their recent victories the insurgents cannot be satisfied with the concessions which they demanded at the conference with Baron Rodich. They now demand absolute independence of Herzegovina and Bosnia and scout the idea of an armistice. They are actively preparing to proclaim a provisional government.

Doings of French Radical Deputies

PARIS, May 24.—The Radicals in the Chamber of Deputies will shortly introduce a motion for the prosecution of accomplices in the coup d'etat of 1851. LePays commenting on Prince Napoleon's acceptance of the republic remarks that there is only one more imbecile since Napoleon will sit in the chamber disdained by both Republicans and Imperialists.

Hard Times in the Cotton Mills.

LONDON, May 24.—The cotton mills at Preston have commenced running on short time and it is rumored that others will follow. The cause is the continued decline and irregularity in prices and the depression and uncertainty of markets. It is stated that prices are at present lower than for 30 years with two brief exceptions and the prospects are discouraging.

Alleged Gold Discovery

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—The alleged discovery of a gold quartz ledge on Bernard Heights and location of the claims by Victor Ressayre seems entitled to some degree of credence. Mr. Ressayre is secretary of the French Mutual Benevolent Society and has had considerable experience in mining. He worked six years at mining in Grass Valley and about the same length of time at Virginia City at [illegible] to understand the character of mineral croppings. He says he has traced the large ledge about forty five feet wide for two miles and smaller ones nearly four miles. He has a number of specimens taken from croppings, and exhibits a report signed by Mr. Strong, assayer of No 18 Stevenson street, showing that from eleven ounces sixteen cents were assayed, or at the rate of $460 per ton. Mr. Ressayre is of the opinion that the gold belt extends across the peninsula at that point.

Democratic State Convention

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—The delegates to the Democratic State convention received a large accession to their number this evening by boat and rail and the Cosmopolitan is swarming with them. The principal object of speculation to-night is the chairmanship of the convention which is now virtually conceded to Ryland of San Jose, though it is said that if necessary to harmonize conflicting interests, Governor Irwin will preside.

In the fight for nomination of Congressman for this district, McDonald has pulled up a good deal on Piper and now claims to lack only three of an assured majority, though Ryland's bright prospects for presiding officer is considered a point in favor of Piper. McDonald, however, is strong in his assertion that he can and will break the Ryland-Piper ring, and the general belief is that if money will do it it will not be lacking.

The Democratic county central committee met this evening and completed their choice of delegates for the city. The delegation met after the adjournment of the committee and organized by choosing Peter H. Burnett chairman and appointed a committee of five on order of business and adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

The convention reassembled at five minutes to three. The following are announced as the committee on platform and resolutions: First district—Hager and Howe; second district—Farley and Hamilton; third—Burch and Finnor; fourth—McDoughat and Day. Owing to the fact that there were two delegations from a number of counties the chairman of the committee on credentials stated that they were unable to report until a later hour, and the convention adjourned until half past seven P. M.

Dishonest Quartermaster.

H. Wilkinson, quartermaster of the steamer Montana, just arrived from Mexican ports, was arrested this evening on a charge of broaching the cargo of the vessel, a portion of the stolen property was found in his rooms at the hotel.

Rain has ceased and the weather now is clear and warm.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—The Cosmopolitan is well filled to-day with delegates to Democratic State Convention, which meets to-morrow. A good deal of [illegible] has been going on to-day in fixing matters. For presiding officer of the convention there have been named Col E. J. Lewis of Tehama Co., T. Lyland of San Jose, and Judge Hager of San Francisco. For secretary the names most mentioned are I. T. Shackelford, Secretary of the Senate during the last two sessions of the legislature, and Joseph Beard. From what little has been said concerning the preferences for heading the national ticket it would seem that Tilden and Hendricks are the favorite names in San Francisco, especially Tilden. His is by far the most mentioned name because it is certain he favors hard money. Upon the question whether the delegates will go to St. Louis uninstructed there seems a difference of opinion. It is known that a large number of delegates favor sending representatives to St. Louis instructed in accordance with the usual practice of the California Democracy. At the same time Assemblyman Murphy from Del Norte county, with a view of testing the opinion of the convention upon the question of hard money, intends if no one else submits such a proposition to offer a resolution instructing the delegates for Tilden and hard money. As to the manner of electing the delegates the general feeling seems to favor electing two from each Congressional district and four at large, though several have expressed themselves in favor of electing them entirely by Congressional districts. There will be two sets of delegates from San Diego, Stanislaus, Santa Cruz and San Luis Obispo, which will make contests for seats. It is doubtful whether the Presidential electors will be nominated now or after the St. Louis convention. The names so far mentioned in this connection are P. Ganahl, T. Kirk of Colusa, Larkin of El Dorado, T. W. Freelon and Judge Budd.

The contest in the first district, composed only of the city and county of San Francisco, is between Piper and McDonald. Piper so far seems ahead, one politician giving him seven majority. On the street this morning it was publicly talked that from $500 to $800 was ready to be advanced for a proxy to this convention and it is generally understood that both candidates are putting up money freely.

Meeting of the Republican State Central Committee.

At a meeting of the Republican State central committee held yesterday it was resolved that the State convention for the nomination of Presidential electors and to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of State Controller J. W. Madeville will be held in this city on Wednesday, August 9th. The committee recommended primary elections throughout the State and that the delegates to the State convention be empowered to act as delegates to their respective Congressional conventions.

Illicit Spirits Seized

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—United States Attorney Coghlan filed information in the U. S. circuit court to-day against 300 gallons of proof spirits seized by internal revenue collector Sedgwick on the 1st of May at the store of Lipman, corner of Battery and Commercial streets, and 560 gallons of proof spirits seized by the collector at Hathaway's warehouse. It is charged that the spirits were in possession of Lipman for the purpose of sale and removal in fraud of the revenue laws. It is also charged that the spirits were removed from the distillery to a place other than the bonded warehouse in fraud of the revenue law. The court is asked to condemn the goods as forfeited to the government.

LANDS FOR THE LANDLESS

MAY 24, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I wish to offer a treatise for your excellent [paper] upon the above text. It seemed good to our general government in 1841 and in 1862 to enact a pre-emption law first and then a homestead law. By these acts the homeless ones could obtain homes of their own. The vast and almost boundless expanse then lying between the Missouri river on the east and the Pacific coast on the west seemed sufficient to afford homes to all our homeless ones, and to hundreds of thousands of down trodden ones of the monarchical governments of the Old World. The government has been as assiduous in surveying those lands and placing them subject to the hardy pioneers under these acts as if those lands were selling at $5 per acre. This speaks nobly of a government that looks well to the interests and comfort of its citizens. Make a man a freeholder and you make of him one who feels that the country is his, that he will uphold and defend it. The facilities of acquiring lands in all this vast region, so rich in soil, minerals, grasses and health and climate, are great. But yet it is sadly true that thousands of men wander and ramble around homeless and houseless, not caring a straw for lands or homes.

It is no fault of any but themselves that they thus spend their time. It is the very worst of policy in such men that they neglect the golden chances of acquiring lands and homes when such lands are so easily acquired. And even in the settled portions of these vast States and Territories second hand lands can be had at very low rates. Let but a score more of years come and go and these very lands, now to be had at such low rates, cannot be bought for five or ten times their present prices. If hundreds of our sons and strangers, who come here seeking their fortunes, would stir around and locate homes, how much better it would be for them and the people at large. How much more conducive to virtue, contentment, health and general prosperity it would be to those men. The time will come when they may neglect their short-sighted policy in thus throwing away their fine chances now of acquiring good homes.

The glittering gilded bait of acquiring sudden fortunes at the mines deceives many men. Of all the men who have come to the Pacific slope since 1848 in search of gold not one-sixth man of them is now worth over five hundred dollars; while each man who came here for homes settled down upon them and was temperate, industrious, frugal and honest, not one in ten, if alive now, is worth less than from four to forty thousand dollars.

These are no exaggerated statements. Lands upon the Pacific slope are steadily rising in value. The great and marvelous resources of this vast northwestern country are attracting the attention of many thousands of persons in the old States and in Europe. The star of empire is moving towards the Great West—now west of Missouri river. When I came first to Portland in 1851 property was offered to me then at rates that would now insure ten thousand per cent. And the same, to a less extent, in Salem and Albany.

Lands can now be bought in Willamette Valley at from five to fifty dollars per acre that cannot be bought—twenty-five years hence at two to five hundred dollars per acre. I know of no investments now on this coast that are as sure and profitable as in lands or city property. Off from our railroads are thousands of homestead or pre-emption tracts in quarter sections which will afford excellent homes for the hardy pioneers. It is true that roads are not made to most of those lands.

Well what of that? Men make roads and then can use them. Narrow gauge railroads or lateral branches will diverge off right and left, leading into remote settlements. In such districts the amount of minerals, timber, grasses, good soils, water power, health and pure springs are almost beyond calculating. We would suppose that thousands of men who ramble around and run after every humbug excitement about big bonanzas, and have been already deceived scores of times, would strike out and take up homes and fall to work upon them. One crop of wheat well put in will generally pay for the cost of the land and sometimes for the land and preparing it for the crop. Men need not expect that those lands will be forced upon them. Immigrants coming here can find out all about those lands by inquiring of the State Board of Immigration, or of the Land Department of the Oregon and California railroad, at Portland, Oregon, or of the local land agents in our principal cities. As all original land titles here are good, buyers have only to search the records to find out about titles. In many cases second hand lands are really cheaper here than going back into the unsettled parts and taking home for the office fees. But of this matter let every man judge for himself.

Serious trouble is anticipated in Southwestern Colorado consequent upon the Southern Utes, of whom Ignacio is chief, having ordered all the settlers to abandon their farms and leave the lower Animas valley. A petition from the citizens of La Plata county has been forwarded to the General Government at Washington, asking protection against expected attacks of the Indians. The cause of dissatisfaction on the part of the Utes is that although they made a treaty with the United States three years ago, agreeing to give up the San Juan mining region in consideration of certain annual payments, none of them have been received, though the Utes have faithfully fulfilled all their treaty obligations.

NEVADA

Chinese Question in Nevada

EUREKA, May 24.—Last evening the court house was crowded to overflowing with citizens called together to express their opinion in relation to the continued and fast increasing influx of Chinese, coolies and prostitutes to this coast. The meeting was composed of all classes, a large proportion were working men and was addressed by several prominent citizens. Each speaker was loudly applauded and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. Resolutions were unanimously adopted appealing to the Representatives in the Congress of the United States to unite in an effort for the abrogation of the Burlingame treaty with China or such modifications thereof as shall check the unmitigated evil of Chinese immigration. Another meeting is called for Saturday for the purpose of organizing an anti-Chinese league similar to those now in operation in San Francisco and other cities in California.

Mr. Emerson thinks that men should trust each other more, and there seems to be a general feeling hereabouts that he is the man to open a small grocery in this section.

CENTENNIAL RAILWAY FARE

SALEM, May 23, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There has an impression gone abroad that the Central and Union Pacific railroads had made a reduction in their passage tickets to early settlers on this coast to attend the Centennial celebration, and having received several letters and been personally applied to as secretary of the Oregon Pioneer Association, on the subject I wrote to San Francisco for information and to-day received the following as the reply, which you will please publish for general information on the subject. The different newspapers throughout the State and adjacent Territories are requested to copy the same:

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18, 1876.

J. Henry Brown:—DEAR SIR: In reply to your favor of the 11th inst., The Central and Union Pacific Railroad Companies will make no reduction on their lines. The rates from San Francisco to Omaha are: First class, $100; 2d class, $75; 3d class, $40 currency. Return tickets to and from New York and Philadelphia can be purchased here for $257, limited to two months. This is a reduction of $10 on the Eastern lines from Omaha below the regular rates. These tickets can be had at No 3, New Montgomery street, to go by St. Louis, and at No 121 Montgomery street, to go by Chicago. The regular fare to New York is $138, making the round trip $276 currency. This is by far the simplest and best plan to adopt by those who do not wish to be limited to two months. This statement is reliable.

Yours, truly, H S

Centennial excursion tickets, good for sixty days only, from Omaha to Philadelphia and return, at $50 currency, are sold at Omaha, also at No 3, New Montgomery street via St. Louis, and at No 121 Montgomery street via Chicago.

The following is from the Morning Call of May 18th: "Inquiries have been addressed to us of late relative to the cost of going to the Centennial—whether reductions have been made by railroads for passage in going to and returning from Philadelphia. We have taken pains to make inquiries upon the subject, and find that the Central and Union Pacific Railroads make no reduction. Tickets for the round trip from Omaha to New York and return to Omaha can be purchased for $57 currency, via Philadelphia; from Omaha to Philadelphia and return, $50 currency. These tickets are sold in this city by all ticket agents. The round trip from San Francisco to New York and return will cost $275, and to Philadelphia $256 currency. Tickets are sold (round trip), going East, either via St. Louis or Chicago, and can be purchased, going East, over the Pennsylvania Railroad through Philadelphia, to return via either the New York Central, New York and Erie, or Baltimore, or vice versa. The price of passage to and from New York, by railroad, has been heretofore $270 currency, or $138 each way."

All of the above information was received from Mr Goodman, superintendent of the C. P. R. R., by a gentleman who went [illegible] for me, and can be relied on as the [illegible] cost of tickets from San Francisco.

By publishing the above you will set the cost of trip to rest for a great many who are your readers. Yours truly,

J. HENRY BROWN, Sec'y O. P. A.

A MATRIMONIAL JOKE

HOW A WEALTHY YOUNG NOBLEMAN MADE GAME OF A NUMBER OF HUSBAND-HUNTERS.

[From the London Examiner.]

A good story [illegible] us from Milan. A young nobleman of that city of marriageable age, and master of a fortune of 10,000 francs a year, not long ago came to the conclusion that it was time for him to look out for a wife. His pursuits in life not being of the most strenuous character, he had leisure to combine amusement with research. Accordingly he advertised his want in a Milanese newspaper, requesting that every answer to the advertisement might be accompanied by the portrait of the lady who replied. A collated result of this notice was that two or three of the best photographic artists of the city had more work on their hands than they could attend to. The direct result was sixty five letters, with as many fair maidenly countenances as would furnish a good sized album. The answers were in some cases accompanied by parental certificates, setting forth in touching language the charms and virtues of their daughters. Embarrassed by a choice of such unexpected variety and desirous to gratify that sense of humor which even the serious nature of his quest could not repress, the young man replied to each of his correspondents that, before coming to a final decision, a personal—not exactly interview but inspection, would be of advantage. To each of the ladies, of course without the knowledge of the others, he sent a ticket for an orchestra stall in the Scala Theater, announcing that he himself would be in a particular box, the number and situation of which he stated. A few evenings later the play going public of Milan were perplexed to explain the appearance of one of the rows of stalls in the immense building. A long line of beauties, in toilettes of extreme elegance, unbroken by a single black coat, was observed. Furtively and with trepidation, did each damsel from time to time raise her opera glass to that box—the cynosure of many bright eyes—in which the graceful youth reposed. Suspiciously and with darkened brow did each damsel turn to the long file of her neighbors, and wonder at the magnetism which drew each glass to the one central spot. By and by the audience, to whom some hint of the secret had leaked out, began to give audible signs that they enjoyed the joke. The sporadic laughter of the theater increased the confusion of the young ladies, and the contagion of fun turned the sporadic mirth into a general roar. At this point our informant draws a veil over the scene, concluding his narrative with the trumpet-call "Daughters of Eve revenge!" We question if that young man will get married in Milan.

THE LONGING FOR FRESH AIR

The Virginia City (Nevada) Enterprise says: It is a curious fact that the one constant wish of an old forty niner, or any man who has lived much in the wilds, once he becomes seriously ill, is to be taken out into the open air. It being mentioned an evening or two since that Jack "Pioneer" was constantly begging to be carried to the mountains and left under a tree wrapped in his blankets," several first settlers present gave their experience and all agreed that it was the most natural feeling in the world. The moment they were taken ill they began to think of the wilds where they rambled in the days of their youth and strength. Several instances of the beneficial effects of a removal to the open air were given. One gentleman said that a year or two since he was taken seriously ill and at once began to pine for the mountains. He said he could not get well unless he laid on the ground under a pine high up in the Sierras. His physician sent him to San Francisco, to San Jose, to Santa Barbara and to all manner of places to which he did not want to go, and where he was lodged in houses and tenderly cared for as a sick man. He gained no strength, and finally took the matter in his own hands and went up into the mountains and camped out by the side of a big rock at the head of the American river. In two weeks he was running, gun in hand, all over the mountains. Another man who had long been ill in this city had himself carried to Lake Tahoe. Arrived there, he sought out a big pine tree on the shore of the lake and under this he lay from morning till night every day for over a week doing nothing but listening to the wind sigh through the leaves overhead, and each day fat accumulated on his ribs. One of the old miners of the days of forty nine is almost well when you tell him that you will take him into the mountains where he may camp by a spring and sleep on the ground in his blankets every night.

THE SITUATION IN JACKSONVILLE

JACKSONVILLE, May 20, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As your paper is supposed to be [illegible] and independent in the local politics of parts of the State at a distance from Portland, [your] correspondent takes this opportunity to [give] you a plain spoken and fair [illegible] political feelings and their causes in [illegible] Oregon that the intelligent [reader may, per]haps, elicit from the facts [illegible] be learned and acted upon by all good [citizens] of every party. At this time, national [poli]tics no not here attract the notice of any [illegible]. Frauds, domestic treason and broils of W[ash]ington society only enter the dull ear to be forgotten in a moment. Jackson county, deeply in debt growing out of the flood [of] crime which but recently has in a measure subsided. And strange to tell, [crimi]nals with clear proof against them can with great difficulty be brought to [justice, ex]cept in cases of common larceny and [stealing] of horses, in which [illegible] their [es]cape are least, and their term in the [peniten]tiary greatest. This state of things is [account]ed for in different ways. Some attri[bute it to] the dullness of jurors, while oth[ers blame the law] for it from the tender-footed and [illegible] sized charges of the court in [illegible]. These facts, together with [illegible] [illegible], personal and [illegible], the [illegible] [illegible] to get office the efforts of incum[bents to] disparage aspirants, the mining question, [illegible] house, and the [illegible] for [illegible] putting the best [illegible] in office, [illegible] about a state of politics [illegible] rather singular and [illegible]. Now the result of this [illegible] men are elected to office as the [illegible] evils, and not as the [illegible] of the the voters. The [illegible] and because we have [illegible] office to suit the card. THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 25 1876

THE NEW POLITICAL CLUB

A new political club has recently been organized in New York for the purpose of achieving certain objects and reforms, among which, as set forth in its declaration of purpose and principles published in the N. Y. Times of the 2d inst the most important are the following

1 Resumption of specie payments toward which there should be a certain, steady advance

2 A thorough non-partisan civil service Honesty capacity and fidelity should constitute the only valid claims to public employment

3 Retrenchment and reduction in the public expenses, as near to the ante war standard as is possible under the changed circumstances and increased population of the country

4 To signalize the opening of the new century of our national existence by having nominated by the Republican party for President not a mere political partisan but a statesman of tried character in sympathy with the best sentiments of the people on all public questions conversant with the affairs of government, discriminating and independent in the choice of public servants one who will thoroughly reform the public service and whose name alone will be a guarantee of official integrity of wise and prudent administration and of a fearless enforcement of the laws

This club is not intended to build up a third party, or to act in the interest of any special person It is an organization of Republicans within the party to insure the selection of a candidate at Cincinnati who will be a Reformer as well as a Republican, one who has brains enough to detect fraud when he sees it, and courage enough to fight it when he finds it Among the members are men who favor several different aspirants to the Presidential office, but in their desire and purpose to have a good President chosen, all are of one mind They organize to maintain the purity of Republican principles and to protect the party from becoming the victim of those who would, or might, impose upon it an incapable or corrupt candidate They believe that the hopes of the future rest with the Republican party, which is the only one having a definite policy, and the only one truly deserving to be called national The Democratic party is unsound and divided on the vital question of finance and in other particulars, has as many divisions as there are sections in the Union, believing and declaring one thing here and a totally different and inconsistent something there. Therefore the organizers believe that the reform so greatly needed in our government—that sort of reform which consists, not alone in ferreting out individual crimes and criminals, but in purifying the body politic, and so reorganizing some of its methods of work as to make crime if not impossible, at least less easy of perpetration and less frequent must be accomplished by Republicans. As the first step towards [illegible] the members of this club "desire to bring to the aid of the party all the moral strength that would spring from good organizations," "and to communicate with like organizations and with men known to be in sympathy with their principles in other States."

Mr. Elliot C. Cowdin, speaking of the objects of the club, said "it was distinctly understood that the club was to be committed to no man. The determination was to make such a strenuous endeavor for reform that success would be sure to follow; as a proper demonstration by the reform element of the Republican party would show that it would be political suicide to ignore it" Ex-Judge Emott, when questioned as to the object of the movement, said that it was intended to procure good nominations by the Cincinnati Convention. It was not, he added, designed to press the claims of any particular candidate; Of course, the gentlemen who signed the paper might have their individual preferences, but the object of all was to secure good nominations. The organization, like others of the same character which had been formed would send deputations to Cincinnati and use all its influence to prevent the nomination of any man who was unfit for the high office to be filled All the signers of the call were good Republicans. They had no idea of creating divisions in the ranks of the party, their sole aim being to urge the Convention to select available men worthy of holding high public trusts. They did not want any nominations to be made merely at the instance of officeholders That was one of the evils they desired to avert Some men in the organization were for Bristow, others for Blaine and still others for various candidates, including Wheeler. It was not their purpose, as a body who should be nominated. That question had not come before them

The N. Y. Times, speaking of the organization, says

We commend attention to the statement published in another column of the organization and aims of the Republican Reform Club Comprising as it does, the names of Republicans representing the best elements of professional [illegible], the sincerity of whose desire to promote a higher standard of public morals is as obvious as their thorough disinterestedness the club cannot fail to have an influence of the most satisfactory kind upon current politics. The organization of this club preceded and in some degree influenced the action of the Union League Club which had so marked an effect upon the proceedings of the Syracuse Convention and on the Republican sentiment of the State

A movement like this, of the best elements of the community, to take the management of public affairs out of the exclusive control of place-hunters and professional politicians is of the happiest augury for the future of good government

THE OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN

Judging from the attendance at the Republican meeting last evening and the enthusiasm which prevailed the Republican ticket of this county will poll the full Republican vote, and, of course be elected by a large majority It is demonstrated that Republicans can work united by working honestly There need be no fear of serious loss of Republican votes for Republican candidates this year The boldness with which the speakers stepped up to the high ground of individual right and individual responsibility, as contradistinguished from the blind subserviency to party organization which characterized the discipline of the past, cannot fail to do much good in reassuring the intelligent Republicans that the fight is to be made hereafter on principle and not on the low plane of personal government and selfish ambition On this basis a united party is possible and with unity success is certain in the county and State This happy opening of the campaign should be followed up to the day of election. It is only a little over a week and the interest should not be allowed to wane The canvass of the county should be pushed forward with vigor from now till the polls are closed on the evening of the [illegible] of June If that is done Multnomah will respond to the call of the hour with something like her old majority Upon the most reliable calculations, it appears altogether probable that the complexion of the legislature will be determined by this county A Republican success here means a Republican majority in the Legislative Assembly

J M Boyd candidate on the Tax payers ticket of Baker county for Representative in the Legislature, not State Senator as was stated by mistake some time since has a good prospect of election We learn that the chances are the whole ticket will be elected A special fight is making against Mr Boyd but instead of losing ground he gains ground every day. He is such a man as the people can trust to represent them and they know it

The managers of the Mechanics Institute of San Francisco in response to a request numerously signed by the leading men of the city and State, have determined to hold a Grand Centennial Fair commencing on the 8th of August At the last exhibition held by the Institute the daily attendance for many days reached 30 000 people and it is expected the number will be much larger this year

Mr M C George, candidate for State Senator who last evening made his first appearance before a Portland audience placed himself at once in the front rank of our political speakers He is a young man, but ripe in thought He will prove a match for the best talent the opposition will have in the Senate

MAJ. KELLY'S MONUMENT.

Mr Wm Young has just completed a beautiful monument at his shop which is to indicate the spot beneath which repose all that is mortal of the late Major Wm Kelly and his wife. Maj Kelly was the father in law of our fellow townsman John D Biles Esq and died at Denver City Colorado about five years ago The remains were brought to this city for interment and laid to rest in the military cemetery at Vancouver The monument is a handsome and fitting memorial to perpetuate the memory of the departed officer and his beloved companion, who departed life one year later and now rests by his side It is of Italian marble, standing about 10 feet high The bottom or foundation stone, is of the best of Clackamas quarry rock ... feet square On this rests a moulded base with the family name KELLY carved on it in raised letters Next comes the die or inscription block and above this is a fluted Corinthian column with base On the front is carved a wreath of laurel and palm, and the words Our beloved Parents Immediately below this is that familiar and beautiful line of poetry He giveth his beloved sleep" On the left side is the following inscription "Wm. Kelly Major 8th U S cavalry born at Hillsey, England June 23 1818 died at Denver City Colorado Dec 28 1871"

SPECIAL MEETING BOARD OF TRADE MAY 24 1876

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening for the object of considering the various commercial interests requiring State legislation and the course to be pursued by the board in urging these upon the measures upon the various candidates in the different counties of the State seeking election to the State Legislature and for other purposes

The board was called to order by Mr Goll ... vice president, who stated the object of the meeting

Reading of minutes of last regular meeting, was omitted

RESOLUTIONS

The following preamble and resolutions were read ... and after considerable discussion in which Messrs. Kapus Green Gross Goldsmith, Dekum and Prindle participated were adopted

WHEREAS This board independent of political views recognize the urgent necessity of the various commercial matters of the State being attended to at the next legislature, therefore have

Resolved, And do hereby earnestly recommend to the various candidates in every county seeking election to the State Legislature the following important subjects for their careful consideration and request them to indicate to the secretary of the board whether or not they are in favor of the following resolutions

DIRECT RAILROAD CONNECTION

To accomplish which the State ought legislatively for the general good of all its citizens and without exhibiting partiality or preference for either one of the three proposed railroad routes to the East, unite upon a general bill giving to whichever railroad company or capitalists as shall guarantee to commence construction within one year and complete railroad connection within six years whatever State assistance or aid is in the power and ability of the people as a State to grant subject always to no discrimination of fares and freights in any locality in Oregon over another and under the further condition that no greater through or local freights or fares shall be charged in Oregon than is in operation in California or elsewhere

IMMIGRATION

That it is the duty of the State for the development of its various resources in Eastern Southern and Western Oregon to undertake like all other Western States the immigration interests of the country by appointing a non political board of immigration with sufficient powers and a small annual appropriation from the legislature to disseminate information, induce immigrants to come to Oregon and while here to settle them in the various portions of the State

PILOTAGE AND TOWAGE

That in view of the fact that the increase of values of our agricultural products depend almost entirely upon the number of foreign vessels which yearly enter the Columbia river seeking freights it is of the utmost pecuniary importance to our farming classes for the legislature to pass such a bill for regulating the piloting and towing charges over the Columbia river bar as will encourage competition in shipping and induce vessels to come to Oregon in larger numbers than at present

SALMON INTERESTS

That considering the large annual exports of Oregon salmon and the increase in the foreign demand it is to be regretted that the run of salmon is not now so plentiful as in former years that it is therefore the duty of the State to pass such laws as will regulate the season, time and mode of conducting this enterprise so as to increase instead of decreasing (as at present) the flow of salmon into the various rivers and tributaries of Oregon

Resolved further, That the board solicit the various newspapers of Oregon to print these resolutions, and that the secretary be and here by is instructed to forward copies to every candidate in Oregon seeking election to the next State legislature.

MERCANTILE TRAVELERS FROM OTHER STATES SOLICITING TRADE IN OREGON

Nearly all foreign countries and sister States on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts pass license and other laws to protect and develop their internal trade and commerce believing that it is essential for every State to foster and build up within itself manufacturing and commercial enterprises In Oregon foreign travelers come from California, British Columbia and elsewhere, selling their goods all over the State without contributing directly or indirectly one dollar of taxes or revenue to the State treasury, while merchants and traders residents of Oregon, are compelled by law to pay upon their property or goods so offered for sale, all State county and other taxes, as well as high rents and other incidental expenses It is therefore the duty of the State to equalize taxation so that such travelers soliciting trade in Oregon shall pay equally as the resident merchants their proportion or share of taxes and thus encourage the internal commerce of Oregon This is best attained by the mode adopted in other States which this Board of Trade recommends of taxing such travelers procure an annual license from this State

AMENDMENT OF INCORPORATION LAWS

That in the judgment of this Board section 20 of the General Incorporation laws shall be abolished and section 22 be so amended as to allow a majority of the stockholders of an incorporation to file supplemental articles thereby offering greater inducements for the investment of capital

OFFICIAL WEIGHER OF WHEAT AND OTHER GRAIN

That the State Legislative assembly appoint as is done by the States of Illinois Michigan and other Eastern States an official weigher of wheat whose duties shall consist of weighing at the request of one or more of the parties concerned all wheat and other grain sold or to be sold or to be delivered free on board ship or otherwise, and whose certificate of weights shall be held in law as evidence of the facts therein stated between parties That the said official weigher shall reside in Portland and his remuneration shall be fixed by the State at so much per ton, payable from the grain weighed

On motion the Board adjourned

SPEECHES BY MESSRS WILLIAMS GEORGE AND APPLEGATE

The announcement that the campaign would be opened on the part of the Republicans of Multnomah county last night had the effect to draw out a large crowd of people and at 8 o'clock the Turners Hall was crowded even to the standing room with an intelligent and enthusiastic audience The Northwestern Band preluded and interluded the speeches with some splendid musical selections The meeting was called to order by H Y Thompson Esq who introduced

HON. H. WILLIAMS

The Republican candidate for representative in Congress Mr Williams spoke in his usual forcible style and clearly evinced his ability to deal with the political questions of the day in a masterly manner We have a verbatim report of Mr Williams speech which will be published to-morrow

M. C. GEORGE

Candidate for State Senator was next introduced and occupied the rostrum about thirty minutes He said he would confine himself to national questions as this was a political meeting for political purposes and another opportunity would present itself for the thorough discussion of all matters of State and county interest had not intended to make politics a business and had not devoted that time to the subjects of a national nature that probably the occasion demanded The Republican party had been in existence about twenty years arising on the fundamental progressive and propelling idea of opposition to American slavery It carried the Nation safely through the period of war—a time when brothers were arrayed against brothers and citizens against citizens—a time which, the speaker trusted might never again occur to our Nation At the close of the war great questions arose of a social political and constitutional nature in a land of cosmopolitan character—all demanding the earnest and profound thought and action of statesmen Possibly the result was not quite as it should be in many respects for aside from these almost insuperable difficulties the efforts of the party were balked by a President who had betrayed his party and by a great and powerful party that composed a large minority in the Union and controlled several of our large States Whenever it went before the people since that time, the Nation endorsed it by large majorities until about one year ago Democrats or a great wave of indignation of an honest but terribly misguided people, rode into power in the Lower House of Congress This was caused by the great and glaring developments of fraud and corruption in high places Had a Presidential election occurred at that time when all was excitement confusion and dismay, when the floods of corruption had just burst upon the people that the same misguided but honest zeal would have carried a Democrat into the seat of power in our nation Yet how is today? What means the voice of New Hampshire and the other great States and the various city elections? What means the great preponderating interest manifested in the next National Republican Convention? Why are the eyes of the people turned toward Cincinnati rather than St Louis Its is a great question of political philosophy A solution consists in a careful analysis of the various elements of our political circumstances and history The key note is that the country is distrustful of Democracy The public true to the principles of human nature are more disposed to bear with some evils with the bright prospect for their near removal by the party in power rather than to fly to others they know not what. It is the opinion of Republicans and the better class of Democrats that it is a difficult matter for the people to assure themselves that the present Democratic party is the embodiment of the monster spirit of rebellion and the blighting spirit of repudiation The country is apprehensive lest it might permit the dynamite nitro glycerine hand of a Ben Hill to enkindle in the South anew the fires of revolution, or in the West, by the efforts of a Fog Horn Allen establish the fatal and ruinous principles of rag money and repudiation As its most noted and prominent leader, Horatio Seymour will say that though it has been in brief hold of power yet "it has not gained the confidence of the country" To day sagacious observers believe that with the principles and standard bearers which will in all probability be put forth by the next Republican National Convention that party will again sweep the country as it did in 1860-64 68 72 No one for a moment claims a change of public sentiment in this nation from the principle of Republicanism to that of Democracy. The Democratic party never in its most intoxicated moments of triumph in the last Congressional struggle ever claimed such a change. These thoughts lead the people to observe how absurd is the idea of a change of party

The result of the election to which the speaker referred was a public manifestation growing entirely out of the public indignation at the thieving rascals who had deluded the people and the Republican voters into trusting them in power That corruption was the outgrowth of the bad men who perchance were in and not the good principles of the Republican party People to day realize their error They have wisely begun to reason on the philosophy of existing corruption and misrule in high places They see and recognize at least two of the great causes: first that of the natural and to be expected results of the terrible war and second, the defective civil service system of the American government taken in connection with the prevalency of the infamous and pernicious principle introduced into American politics under Democratic rule in Jackson's time that to the victor belong the spoils As to the first cause that of the natural results of the great war through which we passed and the scenes of commotion occurring since more or less public corruption would naturally be expected in our nation, or in any nation that has witnessed a like ordeal On such national occasions different persons are brought to the surface by the upheaving results of the internal commotion Persons often ill qualified for times of peace, yet singularly adapted to times of trouble, danger and carnage The call was for men of administrative ability In times of peace the nation was disposed to honor those who had assisted her either in the forum or on the battle field The people have not always stopped to ponder the individual and moral fitness in honesty and integrity Many were indeed noble men, but not all The whole of the desolating and degenerating causes of internal wars is to develop these characteristics sentiment and feeling and thought which are unsuitable to time of stability and peace The disorder of such time produce a class of men whose sole desire is to enrich themselves at the public expense The fluctuation of the currency affords food for the growing spirit for amassing wealth by all ... is but by honest industry The spirit for all kinds and species of gambling is engendered and corruption becomes ripe in high places just as surely as ever effects follow causes This is the universal experience of all nations The same effects although of our ... not to the same great degree followed after the war of our Revolution Our historians record the lamentable facts The same lesson we there read about the great moral degeneracy of the times So it ever is with other nations The same evil effects followed the internal struggles in England and so it has ever been with the continental nations The people have been reflecting on these great political lessons and are beginning to realize the great truth that it is not ... principles that are defective but ... and they are going to act hereafter on the great discriminating truth of a difference between principles of parties and practice. In past days of political warfare we have often heard the political maxim of principles and not men but thanks to the most enlightened and patriotic sentiments of the American people that day has past and ... the watchword of the American ... is and should ever be, ...

The next great cause is the defective civil service system which the dangerous attendant of party rewards which we have inherited from ... The system we have has had ... down before the government ... of England and Germany and ... will have to yield to a better system in America The dispersion of the immense patronage power ... wielded in behalf of party will destroy any nation ... the times of ours and the great choice of the American people to day is peaceful reform in this respect now or the great degeneracy of our government hereafter As Andrew Johnson's postmaster general warned the member of the civil service their bread and butter depended on President Johnson's favor The speaker expressed as his view of this great question that all offices belong to the people and should be filled and administered for their welfare When the people by means of measures necessarily results To some extent the ... of the civil service should be changed The change by the will of the people should be carried into force and effect This change however should be limited to the principal offices and heads of departments and in the subordinate positions and the numerous small offices throughout the nation No officer should be removed simply on account of his political opinions but should be retained if he has the Jeffersonian qualification of ability and honesty And when men are ... for these various positions it should if possible be only after passing satisfactorily through a ... of competitive examination Men of character and of high ... are the demand of the age To accomplish the desired reforms the eyes of the people turn instinctively to the two great parties of the nation and what do they see? They see a Republican party which, unlike any other that has ever gone before, will not bestow its honors like the electric ... to the State Senate upon men of unproved reputation It may sometimes be mistaken and may sometimes be slow to be undeceived but when its faith in one of its idols is shaken that idol is forever after a broken image And if I read aright the signs of the times the Republican party to day while she looks for assistance from men of genius has determined to follow the guidance of none but men of character I see, then a grand Presidential campaign approaches where the standard qualification for the first time in our political history is to be one of honesty and integrity I find that it is a Republican who has been stopping the leaks in the national treasury His action has shown the practicability of reform within the party The country to day is filled with admiration of the fact that a Republican has not faltered in doing his duty, although it has sent a Republican friend of a Republican President and a Republican chief clerk of the treasury to the penitentiary, and caused the dismissal of those closely connected in confidence to the Executive This is the demand of the age and of our party He has led to the punishment of both Republican and Democratic thieves for it is a notorious fact there are both Where one exists there the other is found Let the members of the Republican party be found in any stealing game and you are morally sure to find Democrats there also ready to grab The history of the Credit Mobilier and the salary steal bear me out in this In this corruption business the Republican party appear to echo the sentiment, "Let no guilty man escape." They are bidding our officials to-day to "Hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may" Every electric flash that speeds on lightning across the continent the news of official corruption, arouses the honest indignation of every true Republican and sends the blood boiling through his veins I am glad to see, also that some individual Democrats join with us in that indignation that should ever actuate an honest citizen and that in good faith, but with a large ... even the greater portion of those who control the party the people have little fault. The speaker offered a few words in personal explanation

It might be on examination that he had private views and opinions on various questions which were not in accordance with the convictions of others Who has not? Many of my private opinions are for the guidance of myself individually Yet this is immaterial, for if by the exercise of your suffrage in June next he should be among those chosen to represent you in the Senate of the State of Oregon he would consider himself in honor bound to legislate for the people, the whole people and not for himself He trusts he has not studied the immortal works of Edmund Burke in vain That he has a more exalted regard for the duties of a legislator than to attempt to legislate his individual views into laws regardless of public opinion and the public welfare

The province of a legislator is to consult all interests all views and to adjust conflicting matters of legislation with a view to that sustaining public opinion which supports all law. In pursuance of the true province of legislation legislators sometimes are called upon by the highest dictates of governmental science and policy to legislate the reverse of their private opinions that the public good and welfare may be subserved When by the possibility of circumstances such emergencies do arise, we can well see how doubly difficult it becomes for a visionary fanatic whose intellectual density allows him to hold but one idea, to ever grasp and carry out the true idea of legislation and its relationship to the interests and opinions of different constituents

The speaker stated that if he went to the legislature of the State he should go there free and untrammeled and unpledged to any man, scheme or measure His past life was his guaranty He should do his duty without fear or favor Mr George's speech was received with interest and frequently interrupted by prolonged cheers

FAGABALAGH

To Hokepitib [illegible] I've nothing t say
For [illegible] and traitors existed alway
An' you've [illegible] yer poor squib boy so wide of the mark,
That I'll leave ye to grope like a fool in the dark

Sure 'tis not a [illegible] nor a [illegible] nor an ass
But [illegible] my [illegible] for the last [illegible] pass,
Like Bonaparte yer horns were towering aloft
Just feel for them now! Sure they're cars long and soft.

I wanted no office for I've reason to know
No true Irishman had the ghost of a show
For yer wire-pulling tricksters have said with a wink,
These soft-headed Irish we'll buy with a drink

That you sold yourself for a dhrink I am sure
With [illegible] yer vote to secure
Now prick up yer ears and list what I say
And don't interrupt me with asinine bray

The Irish of Portland have strength and have power
And under the party lash never will cower
Ye've ignored us entirely and made us yer tools
We have placed ye in office by voting like fools

Ye have shown yer split hoof and the stump of a tail
But our franchise will act as a loose jointed flail
[illegible] ye fossils get out of the way
For the fifth day of June there'll be the divil to pay

THE GREELEY MANSION

REMINISCENCES OF THE HOUSE THAT BURNED ON FRIDAY

[From the New York Sun]

Beyond a barrel of vinegar nothing was in the house when it burned All Mr Greeley's books, manuscripts and valuable works of art are safe in the house on the edge of the farm in the keeping of his daughter Early in the day on which the house was destroyed Colonel [illegible] down with the same ax which Mr Greeley often wielded a number of trees that stood between the house and the rear and cedar grove in which Mr Greeley received the Southern delegation of the Baltimore Convention in 1872 Had these trees remained this grove might have been destroyed. The intrinsic value of the burned house was small It was the most ordinary kind of a frame cottage two stories high, and shaped in the simplest style But in associations it was very rich In it Horace Greeley spent the twenty years that succeeded his purchase of the Chappaqua property In it he wrote, reared his children received his friends and led that quiet, modest life that made the [illegible] worship him as a demi-god [illegible] to dislike the building be[illegible] the [illegible] and forest trees that hemmed it in and gave it the quiet seclusion that Horace Greeley most admired it for also deprived it of warmth and light, leaving it damp and unwholesome The good wife with a regard for her own and her children's health [illegible] Mr Greeley to purchase the little dwelling facing the main street of Chappaqua, by the side of the private roadway to [illegible] After this had been snugly re[illegible] and otherwise improved, the family [illegible] But until his death although [illegible] Horace Greeley's fondness for the old [illegible] in the woods never di[illegible] remained in the old [illegible] to them and spent [illegible] and Sundays among them, but often with his daughters [illegible] and Gabrielle, the latter of whom was [illegible] first in his heart.
